

New programs for 2013

Legal documentation training

- Confidentiality, privacy and disclosure
- Dealing with subpoenas
- Effective note-taking
- How to manage sexual assault complaints

NB Cyber security issues are not covered in this program

Grandparents and Family Law

When families break down older people often find themselves at a loss, not knowing what to do for the best. This program explores:

- maintaining the relationship between Grandparents and grandchildren
- the role of grandparents in child protection
- What to do when spending time with grandchildren is used as a means of control.

Who cares? What to do about abusive family carers

The FUTURE for aged care service delivery is clear.

Aged care services will increasingly be delivered in the home setting

Are you confident you can identify family violence, assess risk, make safety plans, and understand which are the appropriate legal responses?

Can your agency work effectively to keep older women safe in their own homes?
